

Year of the Tiger Statuette

Collect a 2010 Year of the Tiger by Royal Selangor and you will be helping the development of the Chinese Museum.

Be inspired in 2010 by the Tiger, the Chinese zodiac animal which is a symbol of strong leadership, inexhaustible vigour and extraordinary courage. He is also known as the protector of wealth and a guardian from evil spirits.

Purchase one of these Tigers for yourself, as a gift for family, friends or business colleagues this New Year and you will not only have a special gift, but you will be assisting in the development of the Museum of Chinese Australian History.

In 2010, the Chinese Museum in Chinatown Melbourne, is undertaking a major renovation to develop a world-class national museum facility representing the heritage of the 700,000 Chinese Australians that live in Australia today. The new facilities will include:

- A new Chinatown Visitor Centre
- A Dragon Gallery
- A Community Functions Facility
- Bridge of Memories Exhibition
- Air conditioning to the building
- The Jade Wall
- Chinese Family History Research Centre
- A Chinese Australian Research Library
- A new administration office.
